

Saints Walk-Up Music Pre-Season Power Rankings

Yeah, we're running out of fun stuff to talk about without a 2020 season. So here's a top-5 power ranking of Saints batter walk-up music!

1. Tyler Brandel - Still D.R.E. (Dr. Dre)

That smoooooth opening base line and string melody is enough to get anyone pumped, which is why it lands at #1. When TB is up to bat, it's always "Dre Day".

2. Andrew Carlson - Shipping Up to Boston (Dropkick Murphys)

This one comes in a close second for its versatility. Whether "The Dude" up with the bases loaded, or he's "shipping off to find his wooden leg", he's ready.

3. Tyler Zweibohmer - Danza Kuduro (Don Omar)

Z likes to party, and this jam is perfect for one. That's why it lands at #3.

4. Collin Krick - Money for Nothing (Dire Straits)

Just try not to play air guitar to Collin's rockin' walk-up song. Pitchers fear it.

5. Jordan Flick - This Girl (Kungs)

Dance club hit? Tik Tok banger? Whatever you associate this song with, you can't help but nod your head and clap along. PS: Jordan had this walk-up song before it was cool.

What will this ranking look like at the end of 2020? You'll have to keep your ears open to find out.

In 2003, Longtime Saints backstop (and current Laker), Matt Bergstrom led all of the North Star League "Central" hitters with a .426 AVG (26-61) and a whopping 24 runs scored in league play.

North Star League and Minnesota Baseball Association Rumors

It's been a long wait, but it seems that the start of the 2020 MBA season could finally be upon us. With the latest loosening of restrictions by the state government, there's reason to believe that we could finally get the green light to start playing games. With outdoor events now able to host events with up to 250 people, it is feasible that the MBA and NSL could make this work. Nothing is for sure yet, but things are starting to look up. Stay tuned on our social media outlets for more up to the minute updates.
